I bought this book with the prayer that it would tell our men's ministry leadership team "how to build and sustain a thriving disciple-making ministry for every man in your church." It delivers on its promise. This book could apply to EVERY ministry within a church, although it focuses on discipleship for men. Every piece of the model the authors discuss - from the platform upon which the ministry rests leadership, a man code, and the Portal Priority (discipleship)), to the engine of vision, create, capture and sustain, and finally the continuum along which men fall in their walk - is explained in great detail. The authors talk about the philosophy of ministering to men, and provide critical leadership insight. This book has validated our own men's ministry, because both have been prayerfully considered and are Spirit-inspired. This is a book you don't read...you study it. Buy this book and implement its precepts in your church. You will change men's lives.

'No Man Left Behind' is a fantastic resource for any man, pastor, or church that is considering starting or rejuvenating its men's ministry. 'NMLB' gives a step by step plan to build and sustain a healthy, strong and vibrant men's ministry in the local church. The read is easy and informative, with relevant stories, charts and examples. 'NMLB' also gives definitions (a whole new way of looking at men's ministry) of various men's ministries that are probably going on in your church today - parking ministry, ushering, greeting, - just to name a few - and ways to incorporate these vital ministries into the men's ministry. 'NMLB' could/should be read by pastors, elders, deacons, and any other man that might even be thinking of starting or reviving their men's ministry. It is also written in a way that could encourage a small group study - prior to beginning a men's ministry. I thoroughly enjoyed reading the book and I encourage you to purchase, read and follow through with the time-tested plan for your men's ministry. Duane J. Orlando, FL

Inspirational. I read this book and received much more insight than I thought that I would get. It's full of biblical passages to back up what is being presented. Great ideas abound throughout! Man-code, who would have thought about that bit of information? Anyway, this is a must read for any men's ministry leader. I highly recommend it.

Page after page, No Man Left Behind is filled with eye-opening "ah ha!" moments. The chapter on Discipleship alone is worth the price of the book. After reading it through quickly, (I couldn't put it down) I ordered five more copies and have begun handing them out. You will be "on fire" when you're done with it. This is the best book I have ever read on how to grow a men's ministry in the local church. We are getting a copy for every leader in our men's ministry. We will read and discuss the book together. This book will help us develop a ten year plan for our church's men's ministry! The strategies in this book are right on! By all means, get this book! H. William Green

This book is a succinct, field proven, planning guide for effective men's ministry that is authored by the founder and key personnel of the world's leading men's ministry organization - and it works!

No Man Left Behind is a valuable resource for those who want to establish or strengthen men's ministry in their churches. What the reader won't find is "ten easy steps to men's ministry". This is because men's ministry is hard and the authors won't let us think otherwise. In a paraphrase of the authors the book is not "prescriptive" but "preceptive". I found one fundamental jewel amidst the treasure contained here: these things should work for any type of discipleship. I look forward to using this tool as we put together our own men's ministry.

God has prepared a resource for our greatest need in the church today: to attract and sustain the involvement of men in church and our society. The social impact of men leaving families, church and community groups has left a huge gap in the lives of men, women and children. This guideline can help men and churches change the current trend in our society. Grateful for the motivation and positive message. Commit myself to be a difference maker.
