Customer Reviews

This may be my favorite DK Peekaboo book of the 7 we have. The pictures are of fun bath toys. The textures and accompanying text are great: the squishy frog, bumpy starfish, bubble, rubber duck...

I bought this after my 10 month old showed an interest in another "lift the flap" book. He adores this one. He spends as much time alone with it as he does his favorite toys. He remembers the pages and goes back to them to lift the flap to see the duckie and frog, etc. underneath. It's a great way to get small infants interested in books. Now my son runs his fingers down the pages of all his books in the expectation he can lift up something to see what is underneath.

We have many of these Peekaboo books, in large and small formats, but this is the absolute favorite of every baby who has come into our house (including our own two little ones). There's something about the cheerful rubber ducky on the front and the fact that the whole book is centered around baths that babies seem to find extra-appealing. The whole series is pretty fun, but this one is a baby favorite.

I wasn't really a fan of this book when I first got it, but after seeing my daughter laugh and have so much fun lifting the "flaps" (they're more like extra pages) I have to give it a pretty high rating :) The touch and feel aspect could be better in my opinion. But other than that it's great. I think the pictures being photos really captures my daughters attention.

she loves them- it allows her to be interactive- opening each page. Since she can't read/understand, it's a way for her to be a part of the "reading" process. she opens each flap and touches/feels the page with the new texture. she loves it, they're her favorites. I would say the bedtime and playtime and bathtime are better than the "baby says peekaboo" b/c i think she likes all the toys she finds on the pages, whereas that one is revealing babys. but she still likes the whole process of all the books.

As is the case with ALL of the DK Publishing "Peekaboo" books we have purchased (which is about 12), they are adorable and incredibly high quality. My one year old daughter and two year old son are in love with these books. They have only managed to tear up 2 of them, but only after at least a year of very intense play. I have been THRILLED with them. I bought 4 for my friend's daughter as well.

My one-year-old son loves these books, and so do his parents. The flaps are made from the same material as the rest of the board book, so unlike most of his other lift-the-flaps, these books stand up well to heavy "reading." The textures are great, and so are the pictures of the real babies. It's a genius series combining many elements babies love -- sturdy flaps, interesting textures, baby pictures, everyday objects, and engaging text. That being said, this is not the greatest book in the series. The textures are a little dull. Several are just variations on cardboard. My son still enjoys the book, but the textures aren't engaging or worth exploring. I recommend trying other titles first. We love Peekaboo Playtime and Baby Loves.

My son has loved this book since he was 6 months old and my two year old is a big fan as well. The secret to this book's success is how you read it. If you do the "peekaboo" in a lively and excited manner as soon as the flap is open then my children are immediately in fits of giggles. If you kind of read it monotone or in a non-excitable way the book can be somewhat dull. But read excitedly my little ones ask for it again and again... and again. :-)
